This add-on adds a keyboard shortcut to MacroManager. By default, the keyboard shortcut to the ShowMacroDialog command is Control+Command+Y. You can change the default keyboard shortcut to any other combination you prefer. Keyboard Shortcuts & Macros Keyboard shortcuts provide a way to execute a set of keystrokes within a given application. These keystrokes may be triggered with a single key, such as Command+U, or multiple keys, such as Shift+Command+U. There are three basic elements to a keyboard shortcut: The first is the key combination, which is the combination of keys to be pressed. It can be as simple as Command+U to open a new tab in a web browser, or it can be as complex as Shift+Control+X+Control+Shift+Q+Esc. The second is the modifier, which is a modifier key, such as Shift or Option. It is added to the base key combination to perform additional actions. An example would be Ctrl+U, which opens a new tab in a web browser. If we add the Shift modifier, this changes the keyboard shortcut to Ctrl+U, which opens a new tab. The third is the command, which is the action that the modifier is applied to. In this case, the Ctrl key is used to open a new tab, and the Shift key is used to open a new window. MacroManagers are software that help automate repetitive tasks. Rather than repeating a set of keystrokes multiple times, Macros let you bind a keyboard shortcut to a sequence of keystrokes, so that the user only needs to press the keyboard shortcut to perform the actions associated with that command. Keyboard Shortcuts:
